New Web site on SSNM

The initial SSNM concept was systematically transformed to provide farmers and extension workers with simplified approaches to nutrient management. SSNM has now become an integral part of crop management strategies promoted by many Asian countries participating in the Irrigated Rice Research Consortium (www.irri.org/irrc). The IRRC launched a new Web site on SSNM (www.irri.org/irrc/ssnm) to provide the rice-growing community with up-to-date information on the principles and practices of SSNM for irrigated and favorable rainfed rice systems.
